

Accredited by JCI

Dr. Neeraj Bhalla

Senior Director - Cardiology
BLK Heart Centre
BLK Super Speciality Hospital

Dr. Neeraj Bhalla is an expert Cardiologist specialising in complex interventional cardiology and peripheral vascular procedures. He completed his MD from Armed Forces Medical College India and DM in Cardiology from PGI (Chandigarh) India. He has successfully carried out more than 10000 Coronary Angioplasties and is adept in the use of various devices such as Rotablator, Intravascular Ultrasound and Distal protection devices used in advanced interventional procedures. He has been presented with KK Gupta Gold medal for standing first in Medicine and was also awarded Commendation by Chief of Air Staff (CAS), Govt. of India.

Before joining the expert team at BLK, he has previously held the posts of Officer in Charge of Cardiac Cath Lab at Army Hospital (RR), Director of Cardiology, Metro Heart Vascular Institute, and Senior Interventional Cardiologist, Max Heart and Vascular Institute, Saket. At present, Dr. Neeraj Bhalla is a Senior Director in Cardiology Department at BLK Super Speciality Hospital, New Delhi.

Dr. Bhalla is a fellow of the Society of Cardiovascular Angiography / Intervention and Endovascular Society of India. He is also actively involved with the Cardiological Society of India and SPAF Academy.

BLK Heart Centre offers an extensive range of both diagnostic and therapeutic interventional cardiology procedures such as coronary angiography, aortography, valvuloplasty and coronary angioplasty (PTCA) and stenting. Well complimented by state-of-the-art equipment, the highly qualified and experienced team of Interventional Cardiologists deliver world-class service to our patients.